

Product Spotlight: Notification Options

March 29, 2022

We know that caregivers are never in one spot for very long. There are a million tasks to accomplish every day and you need to be in every corner of your facility. Super Nurse Call systems come with call notification options that enable you to fly to the rescue. Here are the options that you can choose from:

Remote Panels – Both our wired and wireless call systems can be equipped with remote panels that can be installed in backup locations like the lobby or facility directors' office. Our remote wired panels are connected to the main panel with just a five-wire RS485 bus.

Hallway Lights – Our call systems can include standard hallway dome lights or more subtle lights to blend in with home décor to alert caregivers to the right room where a resident needs help.

Pagers – Paging systems have been around for a long time because they are simple and efficient to use. Our systems integrate with the standard paging systems and protocols to get notifications of a call to caregivers wherever they may be.

iPhones – iPhones have become a popular method of receiving call notifications on the run because apps allow caregivers to do a variety of tasks all at once like monitor residents' medical status, dietary requests, and more. Super Nurse Call systems easily integrate with the facility's WiFi to broadcast calls to our own app on your phone.

We want to help you be super all the time and never miss a resident's call for help. Reach out to us today to help you design the right call and notification system to make your lives easier and attract customers to your super facility.
