Motion Sensors

Making Your
Life Easier

Respond Faster than ever before

Super Nurse Call offers motion sensors for both our wired and wireless nurse call systems. These motion sensors can help in a variety of ways, including notifying caregivers if a patient gets up from their bed, moves around their room, and can even identify if a resident enters a prohibited or restricted area.

The Super Nurse Call motion sensors are very easy to install, mount to ceilings or walls, and come with adjustable sensitivity. If you would like to set them to monitor a specific area, or only monitor during certain times of the day, these features are easily configured.

Making Your Life Easier

At Super Nurse Call we love to make caregiver's lives easier. We strive to provide super service every time. And sometimes that is the little things like answering the phone in person, responding to an email right away, and sometimes that is a matter of life like addressing technical issues with a call system right away. No matter what the issue, our mission is to provide trusted call systems and service that enable caregivers to be super. According to Ian Parker, Head Nurse at OCDC, "Their call system makes our nurses lives easier and provides for a quality experience for our patients. Super Nurse Call even customized the call panel cover with our logo."
